ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

Strikes are vicious reminiscences of a barbaric age. A strike is a denial of the spirit of the "brotherhood of man" often proclaimed by those responsible for a strike.

Strikes reduce the flow of merchandise, the moving of foods, the transportation of medicines, the shipping of farm and factory products. That cuts down the number of workers. In turn, that reduces the volume of purchases, with stores suffering, with their employees being deprived of income, continuing the vicious circle of reduced production and reduced income, and consequent destruction of national security, of national strength.

Telephone strikes, telegraphic strikes, hit intimately at families, at the sick, at the helpless. Urgent need for physicians, medical supplies for individual and hospital use, ambulance need, all are denied the victims of communications strikes. That often brings suffering, heartbreak, death—a far cry from the vaunted "brotherhood of man."

There are reasons for strikes, of course. But just as we have surrendered our rights to commit assault, plunder, kill, so by surrendering a few "rights" the underlying causes pleaded as justification for strikes can be eliminated. Causes underlying strikes can and must be wiped out.

There is more behind most strikes than either labor or management will admit. One thing behind strikes is selfishness, which of course is intimately a part of our human composite. This human composite is greatly exaggerated, on one hand, by labor leaders who maintain themselves in luxurious positions through agitation and disaster.

On the other hand, there are "enlightened" business leaders who neglect their responsibilities of paving the way, in the light of sound business economics, for such adjustments as changing economic circumstances require. The "sit tight and let them fight" attitude is as reprehensible, as destructive to the country's values as is labor's attitude of "to hell with bosses."

The public must insist upon a solution to this constantly recurring strike habit. Responsible authorities must be required to enact legislation to make strikes impossible. The calling of a strike should be made illegal before competent judicial decision has been reached upon the complaint of employees. Lockouts must be forbidden. Unions must be compelled to obey laws based upon sound economy and protection for workers.

Leaders of industry and leaders of labor will necessarily sacrifice some of their pride—and a lot of their selfishness.

Until such time as laws can be enacted compelling both labor and management to submit to regulation for the protection of the millions who depend upon transportation and communication for human safety, public opinion must prevail with adequate strength to stem the tide of irresponsible strikes, communistic inspired disturbances, and the attempt of irresponsible to wreck the economy of the country. Also, in the meantime disturbers representing foreign ideologies must be kicked out.

The current telephone strike is a disgrace to all our people and is a perpetuation of the spirit of the "brotherhood of man" often proclaimed by those responsible for a strike.

Grain Company to Pay 10%; Officers Retained

At its annual meeting on March 29, shareholders of the Frankfort Grain Company reelected two members of the board of directors whose term had expired. They were Phillip Stellwagen and George Bobzin. Other members of the board were not subject to expiration terms this year.

Officials of the company reported to shareholders that the company had enjoyed a prosperous year, and a 10 percent dividend was declared.

Officers are Otto C. Schilling, president; William Nieland, vice president; William Kampe, secretary; George Bobzin, treasurer.

Isolation of communities in this area as a result of the strike by the National Federation of Telephone Workers, including three Illinois Telephone workers' unions, businesses and individuals continue severely handicapped in business and personal communication requirements.

Strikers demand an additional $12 a week pay because, as one striker said, "we must make up for the loss of over time we made when we worked 48 hours a week during the war."

Present pay is on a 40-hour basis, while it has been reported actual hours of work are only six in a day, for a total of 36 hours weekly, although from this is deducted a half-hour period in each shift for lunch.

Involved in Illinois are members of the Illinois Telephone Traffic Union, with 11,800 employees, mostly operators; the Commercial Telephone Workers Union, representing 1,928 employees; the Federation of Telephone Clerks of Illinois, representing 2,381 accounting employees in Chicago and Springfield. All are affiliated with the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Although government officials have expressed some optimism about a possible settlement of the strike, a union official Thursday expressed the opinion that there was no ground for optimism.

Included in demands made by the union are union shop and checkoff dues, general increases of from $10 to $15 weekly, vacations longer than the present three-week maximum with pay, additional holidays (now paid for seven holidays), higher benefit and pension payments, reduction in length of time required for wage-scale increases, reclassification of some towns to higher wage schedules.

Starting wages for operators for a five-day week range from $25 in the smallest towns to $29-$30 in larger towns. Periodical increases are provided through five to eight years, depending upon the location, and then top wages for a basic five-day week range from $32 to $44.

In dial-phone communities communications are uninterrupted, but beyond local areas only the most urgent messages are accepted by the skeleton force remaining to operate telephone service.

Opening of Library Greeted by Many

Opening of the Mokena public library by Mokena Book Club this week was greeted with a substantial attendance. Young people of the schools showed appreciation for the opportunity by their attendance. The News-Bulletin is compelled through lack of space to omit several book reviews of volumes in the library. They will be published next week. The library is open Tuesday afternoons and from 7:30 to 9 o'clock Wednesday evenings.

New Lenox Band In Contest Tomorrow

New Lenox grade school band has entered a district school contest at Downer's Grove high school building, tomorrow the 12th.

Winners in this contest will be eligible for participation in a statewide contest in Bloomington in May.

It is hoped that the new band uniforms, deep blue with gold trim, will be available for wearing tomorrow.

The band has been under the direction of W. H. Reed of Joliet during the past year.

YOUTH FELLOWSHIP EASTER BREAKFAST

Fifty-two were present at the Easter breakfast given by the Youth Fellowship of St. John's Church, Mokena, Easter morning. Leigh Kropp acted as master of ceremonies. Dorothy Kohl accompanied the singing of "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," "To the Knights of the Days of Old," and "Living for Jesus." Mrs. Alma Steen sang "My Task," accompanied by Ursula Thiel. Joanne and Jack Martie played two saxophone duets. Dorothy Kohl and Ursula played a beautiful piano duet. Oliver Gedeist, of the News-Bulletin, was the speaker and kept the break-fasters thrilled with the content and guessing as to the length of his talk.

FIVE SEEK TRUSTEESHIPS IN FRANKFORT ELECTION

Five candidates seek election as trustees in the Frankfort village election to be held next Tuesday. Only three positions are to be filled.

Three incumbents ask return to their positions. Two opposition candidates, Clarence Heisner and Fred Breyer, offer the hurdle for the "ins." The two are to be on Independent ticket No. 2.

Present trustees running again are Leo Peterson, LeRoy Hansen, and Fred Weichselberger. Their names will appear on Independent ticket No. 1.

No other village positions are involved in the election.

Southern Cook County and Will county have been digging out of mud all week following the five inch rain suddenly loosed upon the community last Friday night, followed through Saturday with other downpours.

In Cook county, from Midlothian to Tinley Park and Orland, homes were inundated, families rescued by Red Cross workers and more fortunate neighbors of those whose homes quickly fell victim to rising waters.

Oak Forest and many parts of Tinley Park were hard hit, with hundreds of homes being inundated. Underpasses were filled in the Oak Forest, Tinley Park, Mokena area with the same conditions extending all the way to Joliet.

Hundreds of cars and trucks were stalled on the highways, many in the underpasses. All low spots were inundated. Many families throughout the affected area are still unable to occupy their homes or drive their cars.

Tinley Park

Tinley Park suffered exceptionally on the south side when a 16-inch tile drain crossing Sayre avenue and 177th street yielded to the strain of excess water. Early Sunday morning Mayor Wesley J. Stemm called the American Red Cross for aid in evacuation of stricken families. A number of families were evacuated within an hour by the Red Cross by the use of rowboats. Victims were taken to the VFW hall and served hot soup, coffee, and sandwiches. Fires were kept hot to thaw out the rescued persons and dry their clothing, all being drenched and cold.

The Red Cross set up headquarters in the Tinley village hall and will continue to aid families who were victims of the flood.

Mayor Stemm has publicly expressed his thanks to the Red Cross and to many private citizens who worked diligently in the crisis, and this included John Mumms of Tinley Park, who with a tractor Sunday afternoon rescued many motorists who were stranded in the high waters covering Oak Forest avenue. Firemen were busy all Saturday and Sunday pumping out basements.

Mokena residents suffered through water-filled basements and some business people had losses when water in basements reached stored merchandise. Many homes in the neighborhood suffered damage as water rose into their homes, but no evacuations were reported.

New Lenox

In New Lenox surging waters filled the New Lenox Lumber and Hardware Company floors to a depth of 21 inches. Filled to overflowing, Hickory Creek poured tons of water onto the property, causing an estimated damage of approximately $2,000, which included cleaning up and recovering most of a carload of wood fence posts which

FRANKFORT BOARD HEARS PROTEST AS AFTERMATH OF FLOOD WATERS

An aftermath of the flood rains of last Saturday was the appearance of a group of citizens from the southwest section of the village of Frankfort before the Frankfort village board this week to protest the continued use of an Oregon street bridge which was said to be too small and to be responsible for the backing up of a volume of water from a ditch and the consequent overflow on to adjacent property.

Frankfort Mayor George Sangmeister reported that a plan was evolved to have the drainage committee of the board meet with the protesters to work out some agreeable plan to achieve their purpose.

It was developed at the board meeting that the ditch over the banks of which the flood rolled is on private property and therefore not subject to expenditure of village funds.

Village authorities confronted another obstacle in that the village has no funds for such work, according to legal advice.

The mayor and board will seek a solution to the problem, they said, but admit that is difficult. Materials for a new culvert to replace the bridge, an engineer stated, would cost $660. In the meantime, it was suggested that a collection be taken among the affected residents to have the ditch cleaned.

Frankfort officials confront the in the area, with great need and likewise difficulty faced by other villages with no funds for solving problems brought by flood conditions.

At the board meeting action was taken increasing tavern licenses from $300 to $400 annually, in line with county rates. The board retained the classification of "A" license, and set two tavern limit for the village, with a new "B" license covering a package liquor store, although it was stated that there is no application before the board at the present for such a store.

Although a capacity house is expected Saturday evening, April 12th, when the Tinley Park Recreation Commission Amateur Show is given in the Tinley Park school, officials yesterday announced that there still will be a large number of general admission seats available. The cast has completed rehearsals and is ready to provide an evening of fine entertainment.

Reserved seat sales at Cavett's drug store have been large, and it is not expected that many will be left for Saturday evening's performance. All general admission seats are sold only at the school building before the start of the show.

Proceeds of the show tomorrow night and the next performance, Saturday evening, April 19, will be used to pay for the purchase of two lots to be added to the present recreation grounds, and to be presented to the Recreation Commission as a memorial

Easter

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following poem, written by request for last week's News-Bulletin, was omitted for lack of space.)

By ELIZABETH BUSH
What need we most this Eastertime
As we recall that first glad one
Of how the stone was rolled away
And Christ arose triumphant
Oh, most we need a faith sublime—
A faith that once more, on another
Easter day,
The stone of hate and greed and fear
May be forever rolled away;
And Christ will reign in every heart,
His banner proudly held aloft,
Unconquered and unfurled,
While men will live as brothers
And everlasting peace will rule the world.

Clean-Up April 19

Harold Miller announced this week the spring clean-up of rubbish in Mokena will be done Saturday, April 19. It is important that all rubbish and other materials to be removed shall be made accessible to avoid delay in the clean-up, which is to be completed in the village in one day. Regular scavenger service will be started the first Saturday in May for those who contract for the work.

were taken by the flood over a sizeable area considerable distances from the property.

Anderson Hardware suffered damage to merchandise in the basement, although the total value was not immediately estimated.

The Louis Ballengers were washed out of their home, with relatives who had just arrived for a visit. All belongings of the relatives were washed out of a garage where the trunks had been temporarily placed for the night. They were not recovered. The Ballengers and their guests following their rescue, were accommodated in Emiley hall for a week while their home is again put into order.

In Orland Park it was stated that all merchants suffered damage from water in basements.

Rock Island trains Saturday were delayed because of a washout between Joliet and New Lenox.

A Wabash train lost its rear coach, unoccupied, when it became detached as the rest of the train passed over the 80-foot inundated section of track Saturday morning south of Brisbane. The stranded coach finally was removed Sunday morning. Twelve carloads of gravel were required to fill the washout.

FLOOD WATER MAY BRING TYPHUS-BOIL WATER!

Health authorities warn that all persons in or near the flood water using water from wells and pumps should BOIL THE WATER for a full 10 minutes before drinking. Typhus germs ride rolling waters, pushing filth into wells and down into the ground. BOIL WATER 10 FULL MINUTES.

Senator R. J. Barr Is Injured in Fall

State Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet is at his home recuperating from injuries received in a fall in Springfield.

The Senator is reported as slipping on the stairway of the Abraham Lincoln hotel Tuesday night, and striking the back of his head on the stairs. Senator Barr is serving his 45th year in the Illinois legislature.

Sportsmen Meet Tonight

Frankfort Sportsmen club will hold a card and bunco party in the school gym at Frankfort tonight. Prizes and refreshments will be available.

Marionette Show At New Lenox Tonight

Grade school children in New Lenox have planned a marionette show for this (Friday) evening for the purpose of raising funds toward purchase of a radio for each school room.

The performance, at 8 o'clock, will be put on by the Cole Marionettes and is called "The King of the Golden River," portraying the results when Treasure Valley, belonging to three brothers, turns into a desert, and the brothers become involved with the small and magical king of the Golden River.

One of the scenes, through the use of luminous paint and a black light, a valley is changed from an apparent desert into a beautiful, lush countryside, while the river changes its course and flows alluringly through the land.

The children deserve support in their quest for radios.

LEGION AUXILIARY ORGANIZER PLANS FRANKFORT MEETING

Frankfort's Bobzin Swinford Post No. 1098, American Legion, expects to have an auxiliary in operation before long, it was announced yesterday.

Mrs. Eve Feeley of Wilmington will be in Frankfort next Wednesday evening to meet with legionnaire's womenfolk for the purpose of organizing the auxiliary.

The meeting will be in Frankfort village hall at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Mokena Election

Mokena voters have little to create excitement in Tuesday's election, there being only one candidate for each official position open. Election will be for three village trustees for four-year terms and one trustee for a two-year term. Lone candidate for the latter is David H. McMillan, while candidates for the longer term are George B. Phelps, John Marti, and Philip C. Hacks.

Rene A. Guindon is the sole candidate for the four-year term for police magistrate.

New Lenox Election

New Lenox is to vote for a full slate of village officers, next Tuesday, and board of education district No. 122 tomorrow, 12th, will elect a president for a one-year term and two members for three-year terms.

For president there are two candidates, Darwin G. Cooper and James M. Gorrell, while four candidates offer for the two membership places. They are Lucius J. Boynton, Herbert C. Senning, Henry L. Engel, and Roy E. Dowle.

Mayor F. Carlton Cole is opposed for the position by Chester Bowman, 11 candidates are candidates for the six village trusteeships. They are Sheldon W. Hauck, Stephen F. Sergeant, Leonard A. Rought, E. M. Merfeld, LaVerne (Suzie) Braun, Theodore Zusage, Otto G. Bornet, George W. Marshall, Amos O. Bruns, Walter Baers, Howard R. Ayres.

For village clerk there are two candidates, Robert J. McCleary and Maynard W. Brockman. Only one candidate seeks the police magistrate job—R. Melvin Whitaker.

The New Lenox Band Parents Association monthly meeting was held Monday night in the school building.

Fire early Saturday morning destroyed the great barn on the farm of Herbert Bettenhausen, on 171st street, Tinley Park.

In addition to the loss of the huge farm building, one cow and two calves were lost.

Total loss is variously estimated at least $20,000 which, it is said would be the minimum cost under present conditions for duplicating the building in size.

The fire started about 4 o'clock Saturday morning, when lightning struck the building. Members of the Bettenhausen family were asleep when the fire started. The loss in the fire probably would have been much greater, since Mr. Bettenhausen had 72 head of cattle in the barn, had it not been for the heavy downpour of rain.

Messers. Wilbur and Warren Mancke brothers of Mokena, one of whom is of the Mancke & Radcliffe firm in Tinley Park, were on the way to the Tinley store to secure pumps for delivering water in the basement of their Mokena home, and were returning to Mokena when they saw flames which followed a heavy crash heard just a few minutes before.

Awakening the Bettenhausens, and turning in the alarm, they all began the work of removing the large herd of cattle maintained on the place.

This was quickly accomplished and the cattle were taken to the Herman Gee place near Orland.

Tinley Park fire department responded to the alarm, although the great building, full of hay and feed yielded rapidly to the inroads of the flames, and the fire fighters stood by for protection of other property.

Mokena fire fighters also responded but at the underpass on Route 45, under the Rock Island road, they were turned back when they found the underpass filled almost to the tracks. It is understood that the loss was largely covered by insurance.

Plans for a substitute building program were not available so soon after the fire.

Typhus 'Stop' Clinic In New Lenox School

Mayor F. Carlton Cole announced Wednesday that effective yesterday, April 10, he had arranged with Will county health department to hold a typhus immunization in New Lenox school building once a week for three weeks.

Following the 1942 floods, Mayor Cole told The News-Bulletin, 77 cases of typhus were reported in Will county, and the Mayor by his action and with the cooperation of the health officials under Dr. Theodore Polley, Will county acting health officer, hopes to prevent an epidemic through immunization. Dr. Janet Holt of New Lenox will be assisted in the immunization program by Will county nurses.

The two immunization clinics after yesterday's clinic are set for Thursday, April 17, and Thursday, April 24. The hours: 5 to 8 p. m. Who can be immunized? Everyone desiring it.

RUG CLASS POSTPONED

Organization of a class of hooked-rug makers, scheduled to start today in the basement of St. John's church, has been postponed till next Friday, April 18.

Women interested may call Mrs. William Fair III, Mokena 2244, or Mrs. Martin Smith, Mokena 2254.

Marriage License Issued

A marriage license has been issued in Chicago to Hilbert Stressemberg, formerly of Mokena and June Liberty. They are resident of Mokena.

FRANKFORT COUPLE OBSERVE 25th ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Mark Sr. will entertain friends in Frankfort village hall Sunday afternoon, April 13, in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. Open house will be held beginning at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and continuing until 10 in the evening. A welcome is extended to all friends and relatives.

DR. BIGELOW TO SPEAK

Dr. David Bigelow of Lockport will fill the Mokena Methodist church pulpit next Sunday morning at 9:30, in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Ralph Bieber, who will preach in the Ottawa Street Methodist church in Joliet Sunday morning in the absence of their pastor the Rev. Mr. Morgan.

Dr. Bigelow, an osteopath physician in Lockport, is a youth recreation center and is much interested in youth.

Special Committees Circumvent Intent of Reorganization Act

(Editor's Note: This is the seventh in a series of articles dealing with new congressional committees and their chairmen.)

By WALTER A. SHEAD
WNU Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON.—Although the merits of the reorganization act, designed to improve congressional efficiency, are being tested for the first time in the 80th congress, various loopholes already have been discovered to circumvent the intent of the measure.

One of the most obvious of these is in regard to special committees. Intent of the act was to prohibit all special committees except by a two-thirds vote in an emergency. The act specifically gives the standing committees appropriations and personnel with which to conduct special investigations.

Despite this fact, resolutions have been introduced in this congress to create a dozen odd special committees and to retain others which were operative during the preceding congress.

In addition, there have arisen several heated rows regarding jurisdiction over some controversial legislation. With all, however, standing committees have assumed greater importance under the terms of the reorganization act.

The list of standing committees in the house together with their chairmen follows:

Public Lands

RICHARD J. WELCH (CALIF.) heads the public lands committee, which replaces the former committees on public lands, territories, irrigation and reclamation, mines and mining, insular affairs and Indian affairs.

Welch

Through his continuous service in the house since 1926, Welch had become ranking Republican on the committees on labor, merchant marine and fisheries, and insular affairs. His choice of the public lands chairmanship probably was dictated by western interest in this field, since he is the only Republican with much seniority west of Kansas.

Nominally a Republican, Welch is a political independent, who voted with the majority of his party on only 11 per cent of the controversial roll calls in 1946. He has had both Republican and Democratic nominations for some years. Many of Welch's few floor speeches have been on subjects in the fields of labor and merchant marine, but he also has spoken on public land policies.

Welch, who is about 70, has long been a political figure in California. He was a state senator from 1901 to 1913 and a member of legislative bodies of the city and county of San Francisco from 1921 until he was elected to fill an unexpired term in congress in 1926. He has been returned each succeeding election by large majorities.

The 5th California district which Welch represents is entirely within the city of San Francisco. It is chiefly residential, with a sprinkling of light industry. Both CIO and AFL are well represented in the population and both back Welch, who was one of the few Republicans to have PAC support in the last two elections.

Un-American Activities

J. PARNELL THOMAS (N. J.), who heads the un-American activities committee, has been active in its work since the days of its predecessor group headed by Martin Dies.

Thomas

He has assailed a number of organizations, including government agencies, for alleged Communist domination. He has declared that, although the committee under his leadership will concentrate on Communist activities (particularly in Washington and Hollywood), it will spare no individual or organization that seeks to destroy the American form of government, specifically mentioning the Columbians, Inc., of Georgia.

Thomas voted with the majority of his party on 96 per cent of controversial roll calls in 1946. He was vigorously opposed to the McMahon atomic energy bill. His opposition was based in part, he said, on the "totalitarian" nature of the proposed atomic energy commission and partly to the alleged Communist tendencies among scientists on the Manhattan district project which produced the atomic bomb.

Thomas, who is 51, was born in Jersey City and is now a resident of nearby Allendale. After attending University of Pennsylvania, he served with the AEF in France. Later he became a bond salesman and now is a partner in a firm of insurance brokers. He was mayor of Allendale from 1926 to 1930 and member of the New Jersey house of assembly from 1935 until his election to congress in 1937.

The 7th New Jersey district has three counties which are primarily agricultural. There is a large foreign-born population, principally Irish and Polish. In Hackensack and other industrialized parts of the district are located large textile mills, apparel manufacturing, and some iron and steel plants.

Ways and Means

HAROLD KNUTSON (MINN.), chairman of the powerful ways and means committee, which handles tax bills, has been in the house longer than any other Republican. Elected from the 6th Minnesota district in 1916, he has been returned at every subsequent election.

Knutson long has been convinced that the government costs too much and began early in the 79th congress to predict lower taxes if the Republicans gained control.

Knutson voted with the majority of his party on 19 out of every 20 controversial roll calls in 1946. He was strongly anti-OPA. Himself a union member, he voted for the Case bill and for overriding the veto of this measure.

Knutson, 66 years old, lives in Manhattan Beach, Minn. He learned the printer's trade as a boy and became editor of the Wadena (Minn.) Pioneer Journal, which he now owns. Head of the Republican party organization in Minnesota, he is beginning his 16th term in the house.

The 6th Minnesota district consists of 16 rural counties northwest of Minneapolis and extending up to the edge of the iron range. The area is completely rural-agricultural, with only one city, Brainerd, over 10,000 population in 1940. There is a thriving and well-organized dairy industry. Organized labor has no strength.

Because of the tax angle, the ways and means committee has jurisdiction over tariffs and social security. It also handles matters relating to the public debt, the deposit of public money and revenue measures relating to insular possessions.

Rules

LEO E. ALLEN (ILL.), new chairman of the rules committee, becomes by virtue of that job one of the most important men in congress. With rare exceptions, no legislation can be considered on the floor of the house without prior approval of the rules committee, which also dictates the conditions under which it is to be debated and the type of amendments to be allowed.

Allen is a regular Republican who constantly votes with his party. He is 48 years old. He was graduated from University of Michigan in 1923, taught school for a few years and then served as a court clerk. He began the practice of law in 1930 and is now a member of the law firm of Allen and Heer in Galeana, Ill. Allen was elected to congress in 1932 despite the Democratic landslide of that year, and has been consistently re-elected ever since.

The 13th district of Illinois, which Allen represents, is made up of six counties in the northwestern corner of the state and had a population of only 186,433 in 1940. It is predominantly rural and agricultural, a typical midwestern Republican stronghold. There is a small iron and steel industry, but organized labor has little strength. In the last election, Allen carried every county in the district and had a plurality of 34,471 out of 62,000 votes cast. Appointed a member of the house campaign expenditures investigating committee last year, Allen resigned before the election in protest against what he called the committee's "do nothing" attitude.

SCIENTIFIC BEDFELLOWS

It's not making the front pages, but significant hearings are being held before the house interstate and foreign commerce committee for establishment of a national science foundation. In view of frantic atomic experiments abroad, these are important.

Originator of the science foundation idea (providing federal funds for research) was West Virginia's able senator, Harley Kilgore. His bill, which set up a board of nine men appointed by the President and confirmed by the senate, was backed by the White House and many scientists. Key to the Kilgore bill was the provision that all discoveries made through the use of federal funds be made available to the public.

However, the bill now before the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, introduced by reactionary Congressman Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, is carefully angled in another direction.

It provides that a board of 48 $1-a-year men from private business shall administer the funds allocated to the national science foundation. And most significant is the fact that the Mills bill provides no safeguards to prevent assigning patents and processes to the big business groups which these $1-a-year men represent.

Kilgore's bill was passed by the senate last year, despite the open opposition of the National Association of Manufacturers, which wanted its members to profit from government-endowed research.

However, the NAM did succeed in bottling up the Kilgore bill in the house and now is trying to substitute the big business-authored Mills bill in its stead.

TAXING HOLLYWOOD

It hasn't been officially announced but the treasury department is all set to collect several million dollars from Hollywood stars and film executives who cleaned up huge sums by paying capital gains taxes rather than income taxes on picture profits.

What happened was that when income taxes zoomed, the film people hit on the idea of organizing separate corporations for single pictures. Then after each film was produced they liquidated the corporations and paid a capital gains tax of 25 per cent instead of a personal income tax of 80 to 90 per cent.

One of the single-picture men was producer Sam Goldwyn, who last fall learned that the treasury intended to collect the difference between the income and the capital gains rates. Goldwyn announced that he would go into court to uphold his right to pay at the lower rate. Following this it looked like the treasury had backed down.

However, the treasury now has ironed out all the legal kinks and bills for back taxes now are going out from the Los Angeles office of the bureau of internal revenue.

Hollywood drug stores will do a booming business in aspirin.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Adm. Ernest King, retired commander of the fleet, is writing his memoirs in "From Argentina to Potsdam." Argentina is the Newfoundland base off which the Atlantic Charter was written. Economy-minded Republicans might check into how much naval personnel King is using to help author the book. . . . "Soldiers' Album," a great picture-record of the war, has been published by Col. Ernest Dupuy, a public relations officer. Co-author is Lt. Col. Herbert Bregstein.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

Hospital Service

More than 115 nationally known organizations, together with many local groups, now are cooperating with Veterans' administration to bring community life to patients in veterans' hospitals in an effort to restore self-confidence to sick veterans through normal association with citizens of the community.

In 87 VA hospitals the program has developed to the point where a voluntary service committee is co-ordinating the work of all groups involved.

All of VA's 13 branch offices have committees at work, while a national advisory committee, working with the VA central office in Washington, is outlining general policies and setting up standards for volunteer workers with the hospitalized patients.

Represented on the national advisory committee are the American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary, American National Red Cross, American Women's Voluntary Services, Inc., B'nai B'rith, Disabled American Veterans, Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary, Jewish War Veterans and its auxiliary, Masonic Service association, National Society of Service Star Legion, United Service Organization, Inc., Veterans of Foreign Wars, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, Women's Overseas Service Legion and Military Order of the Purple Heart.

Questions and Answers

Q. Can you tell me how many automobiles have been given to veterans who lost a leg or legs during World War II under the law recently passed for that purpose?—J. L. W., Winamac, Ind.

A. Veterans' administration says it has paid invoices for 8,713 automobiles, indicating that many have been delivered. More than that number probably have been ordered since the 13,790 veterans who lost the use of one or both legs have been certified as eligible to receive automobiles or other conveyances, and over 10,000 sales agreements have been approved by VA. The $300,000 appropriation made under Public Law 663 for this purpose expires June 30, 1947.

Q. Does the government pay for medical services for a veteran while he is attending school under the G.I. bill? My son has been in bad health since his discharge from the army and as a result he has been sick a great deal of the time since he entered school. How can I find out about this?—Mrs. K. M. W., Brockton, Mass.

A. While the servicemen's readjustment act of 1944 makes no special provision for medical treatment, your son would be entitled to any free governmental medical service which he would ordinarily receive as a result of his military service. Or if a fee is charged in his school, then he is entitled to such medical service as is given for this fee. For instance, if his illness is a result of or is aggravated by his service in the armed forces, he would be entitled to an examination and possibly a disability rating by Veterans' administration. Suggest that he contact his nearest office of VA and ask for a medical examination. They will determine whether he is entitled to free services or a disability pension.

Q. My son had not completed his elementary schooling when he was drafted into the army. Is it possible for him to complete this schooling upon his discharge?—Mrs. A. G. M., Sikeston, Mo.

A. Yes, he can complete elementary school, although it is possible that as a result of his army training he may not be required to finish and may be passed by his school to his next grade of high school. Your school officials can advise you.

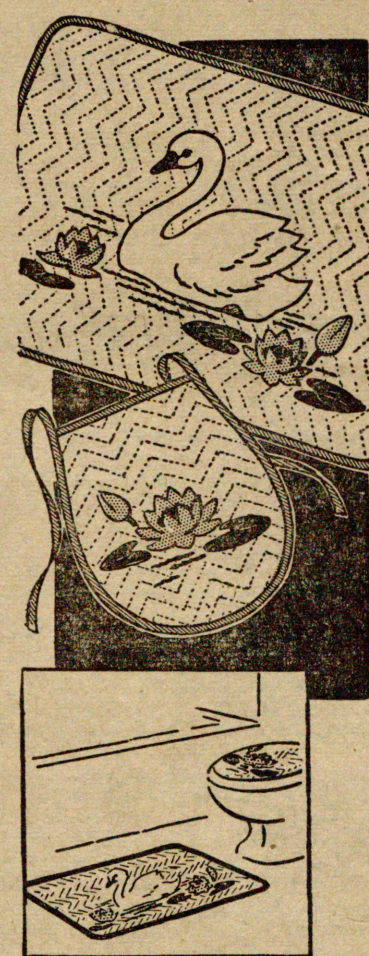

Q. If a war veteran of World War I has remarried and has a former wife with alimony still payable, who will be eligible for a pension, the lawful wife or the former wife?—Reader, Chattanooga, Tenn.

A. The legal wife will be eligible, ordinarily, for pension, although the former wife still is entitled to alimony while the husband is living, if alimony is being paid under a court order.

Q. We would like to know, if possible, just how many employees Veterans' administration has on its payrolls and whether or not VA is adding new employees or firing them.—A. J. and D. M. C., Fayetteville, Ark.

A. The civil service commission says that as of January, 1947, Veterans' administration had 224,852 paid employees, of which 223,039 were in continental U. S. This number is an increase of 2,430 over the December total. The total number employed in Washington, D. C., was 14,515.

HARSH LAXATIVES UNNECESSARY?

Millions Find Healthful Fresh Fruit Drink Gives Them All the Laxative Aid They Need

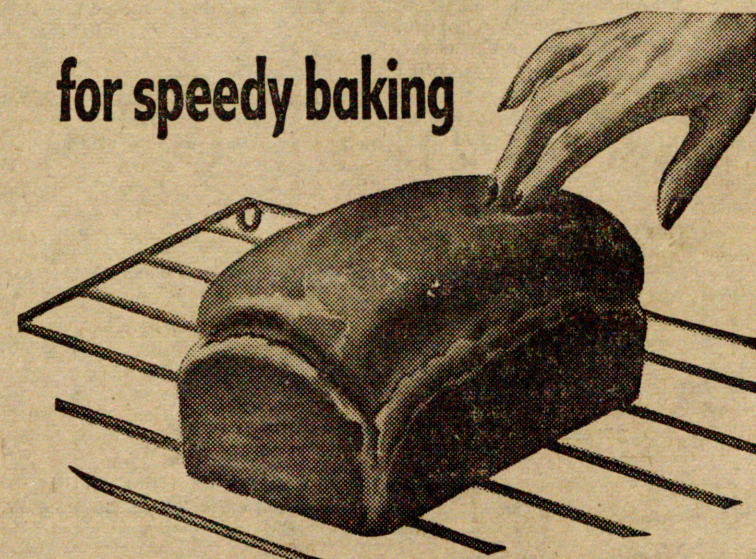

Don't form the habit of depending on harsh, gripping laxatives until you've tried this easy, healthful way millions now use to keep regular.

It's fresh lemon juice and water taken first thing in the morning—just as soon as you get up, the juice of one Sunkist Lemon in a glass of water. Taken thus, on an empty stomach, it stimulates normal bowel action, day after day, for most people.

And lemons are actively good for you. They're among the richest sources of vitamin C, which combats fatigue, helps resist colds and infections. They supply vitamins B₁ and P, aid digestion and help alkalize the system.

Try this grand wake-up drink 10 mornings. See if it doesn't help you! Use California Sunkist Lemons.

Veteran Protests but Pay Continues

NEW YORK.—For a year, John G. Scott, war veteran, has been trying to get the government to stop sending him disability checks, but he has succeeded only in getting the amount raised from $35 to $42.

When Scott was discharged from the army, he signed a statement ostensibly to the effect that he had been a patient in an army hospital. A short time later the unwanted checks started coming in as monthly payment for a disability of the right eye, a condition Scott said he had before entering service.

Scott, who says he doesn't need the checks and that his eye doesn't interfere with his work, wrote Veterans' administration that he didn't want the payment. His only acknowledgment was to get the amount raised from $35 to $42. The checks are still uncashed but VA has refused to take them back.

Tailored Shirtwaister Frock
THIS crisply tailored shirtwaister frock has that casual, clean-cut look all women admire. It becomes every figure, is suitable to any occasion. Wear it now through summer with assurance.

Cool Nightdress
AN EXQUISITE nightdress to keep you cool on summer nights. And it's so easy to make, so easy to launder. The tiny sleeves are just right, narrow ribbon adds a pretty finish. You'll want to run up several in different fabrics.

Pattern No. 8134 comes in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Size 14, 3 1/2 yards of 36 or 39-inch; 5 yards ribbon.

Pattern No. 1617 is for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 16, 3 1/2 yards of 35 or 39-inch.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
Plastic covered coat hooks in color fixed on that empty wall space make a fine support for showing off your pretty trays.

Obtain a piece of window pane the size of your cookbook. Bind the edges by gluing a half-inch strip of thick cloth around it. Then, when following a recipe, open your cookbook and place the glass over it. Recipe can plainly be read through the glass, and the glass also prevents the book from closing while it's being used.

You know what a soiled clothes-line will do to hours of careful laundry work. The best way to prevent this is to see the line is strictly clean. Before hanging up the wash to dry, take the line down, wrap it firmly around the wash board, and scrub it thoroughly with hot water and soap.

If your aluminum pans are discolored, try this easy method to bring the luster back to them. Boil a cream of tartar solution in the discolored pan. Use one teaspoon of cream of tartar to each quart of water for best results. This simple method keeps your pans gleaming.

To prevent rust marks on bathroom or kitchen fixtures where scouring powder can rest, dip the bottom of the can in hot paraffin.

Iron rayon jerseys lightly and don't pull the garment. Avoid having the iron too hot or the result may be disastrous.

SECRETARIES AND TYPISTS
A large, reputable Chicago financial organization is looking for experienced young women for interesting typing and secretarial positions with excellent opportunities for promotion. $150 a month to start for typists. More for those with greater experience. Secretaries $175. New and comfortably furnished apartments within walking distance of the loop are available through the company at reasonable rates. Free transportation to Chicago and return will be arranged for qualified applicants. If you and your friends are interested in living and working in the center of Chicago, write fully regarding your background, including education, experience, age, and salary requirements.

The Royal Neighbors will meet in the home of Mesdames Katherine and Eleanor Wies Thursday afternoon, April 17. The assisting hostesses will be Mrs. Emmaline Weaver of Joliet and Mrs. Alfareta Paddock of Lockport.

Many people from here attended the miscellaneous shower given in the home of Mrs. John Netzler in Lockport last Monday evening, in honor of Miss Betty Allison, who on the evening of May 3 will become the bride of Merlin Jungles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jungles of this township. The wedding will take place in the Congregational church of Lockport.

George Brankey is spending the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Brankey. Their son Joseph spent last weekend with them. Owen Rowley came from Evanston to spend Easter with his parents and to help his mother celebrate her birthday last Saturday.

Callers in the B. F. Ingersoll home Sunday were B. F. Ingersoll Jr., of Lockport and Gray White.

Margaret Mary Welter was a weekend guest in the home of her aunt, Mrs. John Donahue.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartman Jr. and family of Blue Island were visitors of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ott, last Sunday.

Leads Easter Devotionals
Mrs. Randall C. Storm was a guest of the Wayside Workers circle of King's Daughters at their meeting in the home of Mrs. F. J. Paddock Thursday afternoon. The assisting hostess, Mrs. Orville Rasmussen, was unable to be present because of illness.

Mrs. Bell Storm led the Easter devotional service. Routine business was transacted and plans for the Will county spring luncheon, to be held at the Methodist church in Lockport on May 16, were discussed. A sale of small fancywork was held. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Modern Woodmen met in their hall last Wednesday evening with John Wagner and Barney Welter acting as hosts. Lawrence Doctor and Adolph Haley will be in charge of the next meeting.

Mrs. D. B. Brankey and daughter Rose attended a banquet at the Drake hotel, Chicago, last Friday evening at which time Miss Brankey was presented the DAR award.

Frank Loucks attended the spring conference of Illinois Farm Bureau in Springfield last week.

At the recent township election, Ralph Cutler was reelected as road commissioner, and Elizabeth Anderson was made school trustee. A trustees' meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Arthur Lauffer Monday, April 7.

Much damage was done to roads and fields by the heavy rainstorm Friday night. A team of horses belonging to Charles Harris, was killed by lightning.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burch and Mrs. Mary Meyers visited the Clarence Rowley family in Plainfield Sunday afternoon.

Guests at the Homer - Lockport Home Bureau meeting in the home of Mrs. Frank Loucks last Wednesday afternoon, were Mrs. C. Bier, Mrs. Ival White; Mrs. Fred Meyers, and Mrs. Ira Anderson.

The lesson on "buying ready to wears" was given by Mrs. Harold Johnson. Mrs. Verna Wilker talked on the prevention of tuberculosis, and there was a general discussion on program planning. Mrs. Harvey Ingersoll urged the unit to support the local 4H club, especially by patronizing the card and bunco party to be held at the Homer town hall Friday evening, April 11. Tickets are on sale by members and proceeds will be used for 4H work. Refreshments are included in the admission fee.

Mrs. Loucks reported on the Antique show which she attended at Yorkville last week.

The April meeting of the unit will feature a family supper at the Homer hall Wednesday evening, April 23 at 6:30.

Mrs. B. D. Brankey attended the Membership booster meeting at the Farm Bureau building in Joliet Tuesday of this week.

Miss Blanche Feldott has resigned her position of assistant home adviser because of her approaching marriage.

Church News

In spite of the inclement weather, Easter candlelight services at Homer church were very well attended. The Sunday-school and church combined in an interesting program. An exercise, "The Four Crosses," was presented by Walter Boyce, Patsy White, Larry White; and Phyllis Lane; there was a solo, "Sharon's Rose," by Rita Rodgers and a recitation "An Easter Wish" by Betty Anderson; Carol Burch sang, "Welcome the Easter Morning." Carol Ott recited, "Easter Gardens." The adult service in charge of the Rev. Milton Heitzman, included a solo by Miss Shirley Burch, an anthem by the choir, a solo by Willard Rowley Sr.

Pianists of the day were Miss Shirley Burch, Mrs. Robert Burch, and Mrs. George Milton. The children were directed by Mrs. C. G. Rowley and Mrs. Henry Rodgers and the choir by Mrs. F. J. Paddock.

Next Sunday the Rev. Pittman, minister of the First Congregational church of Downer's Grove for many years, will have charge of the morning service.

ORLAND PARK

The Orland Park Woman's Club will hold its annual potluck luncheon Wednesday April 16 in the home of Mrs. Harry Anderson on 108th Avenue. Luncheon will be served at 1:00 o'clock. Members will please meet at the library. Election of officers will take place at the business session, and the revisions committee will present an amendment to be voted on.

Early Saturday morning lightning struck the electric wire leading into the home of Elmer Newton on 94th Avenue.

Most every basement in Orland Park community had water all the way from several inches to several feet, which did considerable damage to the business houses who had their goods stored in the basement.

The Orland Park Methodist church sent a crate of 30 dozen eggs before Easter to the Lake Bluff orphanage. The supply secretary is in receipt of a credit voucher for $18. for the eggs. The institution is very grateful to the members and friends of Orland church for this contribution.

There is still a crate partly filled with eggs, and when the crate is filled, it will go to the Old People's Home. If you haven't made a contribution, or if you have an extra supply of eggs on hand, bring them over to the church.

The WSCS of the Methodist church will hold its annual spring sale and supper Thursday May 1. The members are requested to bring an article worth $1 to be sold at the fancy goods department. There will also be a booth for "white elephant" articles and similar items; no clothing please, just some knick-knacks, costume jewelry, and similar articles.

Orland Boys 4H Club News

The third meeting of the Orland Boys 4H club was held at the home of Vernon and Wilfred Schultdt April 1 with Norman Bernard presiding at the meeting. Fourteen members and three visitors were present.

Jack and Raymond Hamburg were accepted as new members in our 4H club. The club held an open discussion on how we might raise money to finance our baseball team. Earl Moss acted as leader because of the absence of Norman Yunker, who is ill.

Vernon Schultdt gave a talk on "saying pigs at farrowing time", and Richard Lorenz gave a talk on "tractor safety."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Earl Moss April 29. Lunch was served by Mrs. Louis Schultdt. —RAYMOND BERNARD, Club Reporter

The class rings for the junior and senior students of the Orland high school have arrived and are being distributed. Also the school sweaters have arrived and are being distributed.

Mrs. Clifford Horn entertained the choir at an Easter breakfast after the Easter sunrise services at the Christ Lutheran church.

The Orland Park PTA will hold an open house Tuesday evening April 15 instead of the usual second Thursday evening of the month. A short business meeting will open at 7:30 p. m. All parents are requested to visit the school this evening and attend the classes attended by their children. There will be a short program in the gym.

The Orland Community high school District 221 will hold an election Saturday, April 12. Polls will be open from 12 noon to 7 p. m. The grade

BUSBEY AIDS GOP TAX MEASURE

Washington, D. C.—House Republicans, including Rep. Fred E. Busbey, Illinois Third District recently converted a campaign promise into legislative action when they voted substantial income tax reductions.

Principle features of the measure included a 30 percent reduction on taxable incomes up to $1000; a 20 percent reduction on incomes between $1400 and $302,000, and an increase of personal exemptions for persons over 65 years of age from $500 to $1000.

Republican spokesmen, joined by a number of Democrats, declared the measure accomplished two primary objectives. They said it provided relief from oppressive war-time tax levels to those hardest hit by increased living costs, and encouraged investment of capital which would stimulate business expansion and maintain high productive levels.

Opponents termed the measure a "rich man's bill," but sponsors of the bill replied that 61 percent of the reduction provided goes to persons receiving less than $5000 a year. Proponents also maintained that to continue war-time tax levels which took 86 percent of the taxable income in the highest brackets, was a serious deterrent to investment, to production and to high employment and a potential danger to the free enterprise system.

The bill won a House indorsement of 273 to 137.

What do you think railroads make?

The public thinks we make 15%

What do you think they should make?

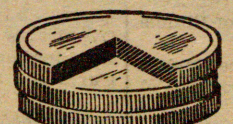

The public thinks 10% would be fair

10%

What are the facts?

Actually the railroads earned only 2 3/4% in 1946.

To provide the service you want, railroads need to earn at least 6%. But estimates indicate that even with the recent freight rate increase, the return for 1947 will be only about half that requirement.

2 3/4%

Why it takes 6% to make the grade...

Impartial research poll shows that, on the average, people think we make 15%. They also think a fair return would be 10%.

What We Make

But for the year 1946, with the biggest peace-time traffic in history, the railroads earned only . . . 2 3/4%. This is less than one-half the comparable earnings for other industries.

The reasons for this low return are not hard to find. Since 1939 railroad wages have increased 52 1/2% and the prices of fuel, materials and supplies have gone up 61 1/2%.

But freight rates have just recently been increased an average of only 17 1/2%—a year after the effective date of the last big wage increase.

What About This Year?

It is estimated that the return for 1947, even with the recent freight rate increase, will be only about half the 6% minimum return required to provide the improvements and service needed. This will be because of increased costs of materials and supplies; because certain wage increases granted in 1946 were in effect for only part of 1946 but will be in effect for all of 1947; because of increased special payroll taxes on railroads; and because of a decline in passenger business.

What Does This Mean To You?

The answer is "Plenty!" Your standard of living is the highest in the world because of MASS PRODUCTION. But mass production would not be possible without MASS TRANSPORTATION, which the railroads provide at low cost.

Why 6% Is Needed

The kind of service you standard of living requires takes a lot of money for new equipment and improvements. To carry out the post-war improvement program for better equipment, tracks, terminals and modern safety devices, a minimum return of 6% is needed.

So when the railroads make only 2 3/4 cents on each $1.00 of their net property investment, it concerns you.*

The funds for future new equipment and improvements must come from railroad earnings and also from investors. They will furnish money on reasonable terms only if they have confidence in the future earnings of the railroads.

You Have Another Stake In This

Even if you do not own any railroad stocks or bonds, insurance companies and savings banks do. So you still have a special interest in seeing that the railroads are allowed enough to do a good job . . . for you.

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk with you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.

*On total property investment, the railroads made only 2.19%.

THE HOUSE THAT JACQUES BUILT—One veteran's answer to the housing problem—he built his own home, and didn't pay a cent for his materials! Lucky Jacques Brownson (inset) of Aurora, Illinois, was furnished plans, instructions and all materials by the editors of Popular Mechanics Magazine to help them prove a pet theory—that any man who can build a table lamp or a bunk-bed could build his own house if given simple step-by-step directions. Now the magazine is publishing a book which the editors claim will enable anyone to build the same house. Jacques and his bride moved into the house on March 29.

FRANKFORT

Mrs. F. J. Kohlhaagen

The Sportsmen's club will sponsor a card party in the Frankfort gymnasium on Friday evening, April 11 at 8 o'clock, to which the public is invited. There will be many valuable articles awarded.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heusner, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Breidert, and Miss Viola Lankenau were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Breidert and son Bobby Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Weichbrodt Jr. and daughters visited with the Burton Breiderts Sunday afternoon.

The Frankfort Men's Brotherhood held its last meeting of the spring season in the Methodist church Monday evening at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pyle were dinner guests of their children, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Pyle and daughter Beverly, Easter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Linus Reberg of Monee, were guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hossbach, and sister Vernetta Sunday.

Mrs. Annie Pfaff was feted at a birthday party Sunday, given by her children at the village hall. She received many nice gifts.

Darrell Haass and wife were guests of Mrs. Irene Haass Sunday. Darrell is attending the University of Illinois. He expects to complete his studies soon and is planning to locate in Florida.

Mrs. Clara Krueger of Minneapolis, Minn., who spent last week with her sister and family, the John Staffs, left for home last Saturday.

Mrs. William Wischover entertained the Amite club Tuesday night in her home.

Mrs. Ernie Pfeiffer has been quite ill but is recovering now.

Near Accident

The Rev. and Mrs. Coleman and son Neil are planning to spend a few days at their cabin at Pearl Lake, near Red Granite, Wis. While driving on his way to the Green Garden Methodist church, after the morning services at Frankfort Sunday morning, a gust of wind blew up the radiator cover, against the windshield on Mr. Coleman's car. He stopped the car instantly, which saved the windshield from breaking, but the cover was badly twisted. He drove to the Rosendahl home where he was assisted in straightening his radiator so he could go on. Some of his parishioners came to meet him wondering why he was so late.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mark entertained the Conrad Mark Sr. family on Sunday. This was the first time since 1943 that all members were together. Those present were the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Mark, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Frank and son, who was baptized that morning. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Mark, Jr., Miss Frances Mark, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mark and daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Wagner of Monee spent Sunday at the home of Miss Tillie Wischover.

Mrs. Blanche Mitchell has been getting her house all fixed up, redecorating and making interior changes.

Arnold Landeck Jr. of Andres has gone to Ventura, Cal., where he will go in training with the New York Yankees ball club.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Harnack had as their guests Eatser Sunday at dinner Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harnack and their two sons.

Mrs. John Wright and son Joey, were guests at the home of her parents the F. J. Kohlhaagen last week Tuesday.

Mrs. Augusta Wischover and Miss Tillie had as their Easter Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. August Carlson and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wischover and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kohlhaagen and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Coon of Joliet were hosts at a party recently, entertaining 15 couples. Novel games were played after which a two course luncheon was served. The decorations were carried out in St. Patrick's colors, as were also the table appointments.

The Walter Mingers and the Fred Hafkas, who have been flu patients recently, are now fully recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Larimer Manthei and family of Scottsburg, Ind., were weekend guests of her parents, the John Bixlers. Mr. Manthei attended a convention at the Merchandise Mart in Chicago and his wife visited her sister, Mrs. Rudy Marschke in Chicago at the same time.

Vernon Hansen, who has been suffering with a lame back, for the past few weeks, is not improving as fast as was expected. He is still confined to his home and his father is taking care of his work.

Mrs. Kate Lankenau, who has been ill in her home for the past week, is slightly improved and her recovery is expected.

Mrs. Henry Mark is still confined to her home after suffering with a severe head cold for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Herchel Vick had a family dinner Easter Sunday honoring their son Curtis David on his eighth birthday. The table was centered with a nice birthday cake.

Mrs. Freda Schroeder of Joliet spent the weekend with her sister in law, Mrs. William Hansen.

Mrs. John Harnack suffered a paralytic stroke Saturday. Her left side is badly affected. Mrs. Welland is caring for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Peterson entertained the following guests at a 4 o'clock dinner Easter Sunday: Mrs. Katie Dammann, Mrs. Hooley, the Albert Naal family, and Mrs. Amelia Dammann of Joliet. A large table was attractively set. A cake, in the shape of a lamb, baked by Mrs. Peterson, was the centerpiece. A delicious ham and frozen fruits were included in the menu.

The Frankfort school alumni are planning a play entitled "Brighten the Corner," which will be presented by the Chicago Heights club. The play is a three act comedy.

Mrs. Mary Bettenhausen entertained at dinner Sunday. Those present were William Bettenhausen from the University of Illinois, the Carl Weber family of Manteno, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hedberg of Manhattan and Wesley and Lora Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Batson were hosts Sunday at a 4 o'clock dinner honoring their son Milton on his birthday as well as observing Easter. Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Scheer, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Schroeder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vollrath and family, grandpa Hansen, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Dorband of Blue Island. The Harold Scheer family were unable to be present because of Mrs. Scheer's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bettenhausen were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Steinberg when they entertained their family. Unhappily Mr. and Mrs. Chester Steinberg were unable to attend because of the illness of their little girl.

Last Thursday the Jolly 9 Club met at the home of Mrs. Emery Bettenhausen. Help Your Neighbor was played and prizes went to Mrs. Waldhauser Mrs. Morrison, and Mrs. Johnson. A two course luncheon was served. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Chester Steinbergs.

The three-hour service Good Friday was largely attended. A keen interest was manifested by the people, since most of them came at the opening of the service and remained throughout the program.

Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Bizer of Gilman are the parents of a baby boy. He is the first grandchild of Rev. and Mrs. Erich Bizer of Frankfort.

Church Service

The 9:30 Easter morning service at the Methodist church drew a large crowd that filled the church to capacity. Miss Wilma Mark played the voluntary. Mr. and Mrs. James A. Dixon and Clara Brookman and Ramon Shifler were received into membership. Two infants were baptized, Thomas Paul P.L.

Heisner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heisner and sponsors were Lester Heisner and Harold Rhinehardt. Harold Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Franke, and sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mark and Conrad Mark, Sr. Other children baptized were, William Richard, James Allen, Gloria Darlene Dixon, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Dixon; Marilyn Jean, Carole Nadine, Blenda Deloris and Carl Robert, children of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Schifler. The day's activities began with a 6:30 sunrise service.

SO NICE!

"It is interesting that today in Soviet Russia, where there are no profits no free unions; and industry is a state monopoly, production lags because managements is inefficient, workers' living standards are at poverty levels and 'real' wages have declined. The USSR destroys the incentive to produce."—Labor's Monthly Survey, A.P.L.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

And That Ain't Hay
—Or Is It?

I guess all of us secretly hanker, from time to time, for the good old days and the good old-fashioned pleasures. Leastways, Buddy Richards done a thriving business reviving the old-time hayride.

With a team of horses, and a stout straw-bedded rack, Buddy can take as many as thirty adults—at fifty cents a head!

Two or three times a week they start from Town Hall, and go out along the river; stop for a friendly glass of beer at Shoreside Tavern; and come home by way of Pound Ridge... nine miles in all.

Not very exciting, you might say. But from where I sit it's not excitement that we need these days—but those simple country pleasures that are part and parcel of America—the old-fashioned hayride, with its song and jollity; the horseshoe games; the friendly glass of beer; and the good companionship that they engender.

Are You Satisfied with Your House?

Read These Questions and Answers

Q

MY HOME IS A FRAME BUILDING. IT IS COMFORTABLE
BUT IS WEARING OUT ON THE OUTSIDE. SHALL I PAINT IT OR PUT SIDING ON IT?

A

Some buildings look better painted, others show up fine with the modern sidings that IMPERIAL has. If it would look well with siding you are probably better off for our new Johns-Manville siding is fireproof, dirt resisting, insulating, colorful. It lasts forever.

Q

MY BARN HAS AN OLD WOOD SHINGLE ROOF. IT IS A GOOD ROOF BUT IS IT SAFE?

A

It is far from safe. Several large buildings in this area have burned to the ground because they had just that kind of a roof. See IMPERIAL for a fire-resisting roof that is approved by the insurance underwriters.

Q

MY HOUSE IS IN GOOD CONDITION AND SOLID BUT IT
WAS BUILT IN 1910. IT HAS NO ARCHITECTURE AC-CORDING TO TODAY'S STANDARDS.

A

Don't move until you have seen what IMPERIAL can do at very low cost. We've changed hundreds of buildings around so that the owners themselves could not recognize them. A little different size window here, a smaller porch there, perhaps a canopy over the door, can make all the difference in the world....

Announces Details of $20,000,000 Price Reductions

Details of the recently announced International Harvester policy of making price reductions to save users of our products approximately $20,000,000 a year have now been worked out.

We have reduced prices on 163 models. These cover 12 basic models of farm tractors, 123 basic models of farm machines, 16 basic models of industrial tractors and engines, and 12 models of motor trucks, as well as certain motor truck attachments. The new lower prices are effective as of March 10, 1947.

These reductions were made not because of any decline in demand, but because we believe nothing is more important to this country than to lower the prices of the goods people buy.

While prices have not been changed on all products, we have made reductions wherever possible, in the amounts possible. Prices of many of our most popular products have been substantially lowered.

Altogether, more than half of the company's customers will be benefited by the reductions, which range from 1% to 23.8% and from $2.50 to $300 per item, based on list prices, F.O.B. Chicago.

Since the people have demanded that the government withdraw from price control in peacetime, the responsibility to keep prices in check is back where it should be—in the hands of business and industry. The business outlook makes it possible for us to move toward the goal of lower prices, and we have felt a duty to act as promptly as possible.

Our ability to maintain these lower prices will depend on the supply and price of materials we buy from others and on uninterrupted production at reasonable wage levels.

The prices listed here carry out our announced policy that "Any price is too high if it can be reduced."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 6, was:

"UNREALITY"

The Golden Text was:

"Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire" (Matt. 7: 19).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:

"Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God: Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began, but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel" (II Tim. 1: 8-10).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"This is the doctrine of Christian Science; that divine Love cannot be deprived of its manifestation, or object; that joy cannot be turned into sorrow, for sorrow is not the master of joy; that good can never produce evil; that matter can never produce mind nor life result in death... Suffering, sinning, dying beliefs are unreal. When divine Science is universally understood, they will have no power over man, for man is immortal and lives by divine authority." (pp. 304, 76).

"Compulsory union membership is a monopoly and a violation of individual freedom." —Senator Joseph H. Ball.

RED TAPE ROLLS ON

Washington—Of the 1,000,000,000 forms and questionnaires which the Federal government yearly sends its citizens and businesses, 500,000,000 are for tax purposes. The rest run from 15,000 question reports which some utilities have to answer, to postcards asking citizens to go out in their yards and measure how much snow fell the night before.

PRODUCTIVITY URGED

"Labor is getting more and more" without giving back more, according to Walter W. Cenerazzo, national president of the American Watch Workers Union.

Urging the greater productivity of workers as one of the crying needs of the country today, the union leader added that the cost of many commodities is going up "because the cost of labor is going up."

"I have no objection if a painter gets $15 or $20 a day, so long as he produces," Mr. Cenerazzo concluded. "But have him use a spray gun and not a 4 1/2 inch brush to do his job."

"I'm willing that the Wagner Act be changed so that the employer can engage in free speech."—A.F.L. President William Green.

UNCOVERED IN 'MYSTERY HOUSE' . . . In the rubbish in the brownstone Fifth avenue mansion of Langley and Homer Collyer, recluse brothers who have lived like hermits for almost 40 years, was this poster of more than two decades ago, urging the election of Alfred E. Smith as governor of New York. Police were digging through the junk-packed "mystery house" in search for Langley Collyer.

BABE RUTH DAY . . . Young Danny Grieve, left, and Shelley Davis, say good-bye to their hero, Babe Ruth, after a visit to his New York apartment. The "King of Swat," recuperating from a serious operation, accepted the invitation of the boys to attend "Babe Ruth Day" ceremonies set by baseball commissioner, "Happy" Chandler for April 27. The ceremonies will take place simultaneously in all baseball parks throughout the United States.

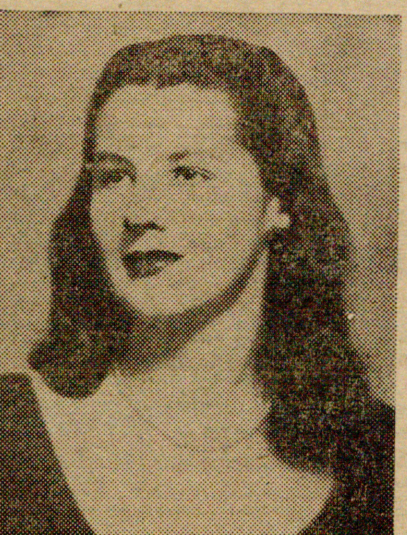

AMERICAN KIDS IN GERMANY . . . Children of American army personnel are looking at the ruins of the German Reichstag, which might now serve as the tombstone for the Nazi hopes of world domination. It was the burning of the Reichstag (now known to have been an inside job—a party job) that gave Hitler the excuse to grab power. Allied bombs wrought the real destruction of the building.

ALL IN ONE BASKET . . . A bonnet and basket all in one is the latest product of female ingenuity. This bonnet, made from an ordinary basket and a few wisps of ribbon, created quite a stir at the spring fashion show staged by Peter Bond in New York. This basket could be used for carrying home the groceries—or when not needed for this purpose, it can be worn on the head.

COMMUNISTS DANGEROUS . . . FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover told the house un-American committee that the Communist party in this country seeks to overthrow our form of government by bloody revolution. He is shown before committee.

CHERRY BLOSSOM QUEEN . . . Nancy Anderson, lovely daughter of the secretary of agriculture and Mrs. Clinton P. Anderson, who will reign as queen in the 1947 Cherry Blossom festival in the national capital.

SIXTY DOLLARS AT SIXTY . . . Rep. Gerald Landis (Rep., Ind.), is shown with 25,000 reprint copies of his bill which provides $60 a month to all citizens 60 years of age or over under income taxing status. He is ranking member of house labor committee.

THIS is supposed to be the season when baseballs are thudding into gloves and bats are thudding against baseballs. But, apparently, football now covers the entire 12 months.

It might surprise you to know how many football coaches, scouts and players are seeking the sun, or holding spring - training south of the Mason and Dixon line, as well as above. And they already have started talking about next fall, including the 12 or 15 bowl games that will open the campaign of 1948.

There will be one of the wildest shifts of coaches this season that football has ever known. There are new men at California, Alabama, Northwestern, Cornell, Mississippi, San Francisco university, Ohio State, Pittsburgh, Maryland—too many to mention. But a big part of the old guard is still standing pat.

We have been taking a vote of these sun-seeking wanderers, here in Florida, to get an early line on what might happen from September to November. We first ran into a well-known eastern coach, one of the best, who had this prophecy to offer:

Navy vs. Pennsylvania

"The college battle in the East should be between Navy and Pennsylvania. They have the two strongest squads coming up. Columbia and Yale can be close. Yale especially so, if Howie Odell can dig up another line. Both Yale and Columbia will have fine backs. Cornell can be strong—and probably will be. The eastern race will be a good one, one of the best in many years. Army? A guess. No team can lose nine of its best starting team, especially such men as Blanchard, Davis, Tucker, Foldberg and Poole, and have too much left. This should be Navy's year, as far as West Point and Annapolis go. Army won't be bad, but none too good. It may lose four games.

"South—Georgia loses Trippi and others. Look out for Alabama, Tulane and Tennessee. Tulane can be extra good. So can LSU. And don't overlook North Carolina with Charlie Justice. Duke is still a guess."

"Just a minute," another scout cut in. "If you leave out Georgia Tech you are crazy. This will be the team to beat in the South."

On the early evidence, it seems that the South again will face one of its big seasons, with at least 8 or 10 strong teams.

Moving to the Midwest, the vote went to Michigan in the Big Nine roundup, with Notre Dame heading the country's list, East, West, North or South.

"Frank Leahy's Notre Dame squad should be even stronger than it was last season," one traveling scout reported. "Notre Dame has most of her veterans back, most of her stars, plus some young backs who will be brilliant. The squad again will be two or three deep. As Leahy happens to be one of the game's ablest coaches, you can see what this means. A South Bend gallop all fall."

Michigan is rated highly in the Big Nine, without an early Army-game pressure to set her back this time. Ohio State and Minnesota both will be dangerous. Illinois loses several of her best men, including Agase and Buddy Young. Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma are rated well.

In the ever-hustling Southwestern conference, Jess Neeley's team at Rice is given a good chance to repeat. The battle for conference leadership is so fiercely fought in this section that early predictions are useless.

UCLA Leads in West

"What about the West coast?" I asked a wayfarer from California. "UCLA should still be the strongest squad," he said. "I know how terrible they looked against Illinois, but they are a far better team than that game showed. When the Army game was called off, the spirit of the squad took a heavy drop. UCLA still has a strong nucleus left, a bunch that will be keen to wipe out that Rose Bowl showing. "Stanford will be improved. So will California and Southern California. I don't know so much about the Northwest."

I have a feeling that the pressure will be lightened, this next fall, in the way of salaries and recruiting. This doesn't mean perfection. It means that the effort, on the side of amateur play, will begin showing early effects. The game was undoubtedly getting out of hand.

Tiger Pitching Best

The Tigers may miss lank Hank Greenberg's busy bat, but they still expect to beat out the Yankees for second place. They also expect to crowd in much closer on the favored Red Sox, and perhaps move into the front spot.

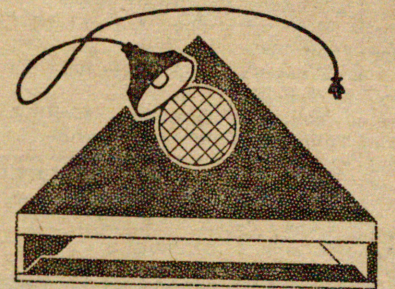

The answer to this is pitching. The Tigers have the best pitching staff in both leagues. The one team that might argue this point is the Cardinals.

Electric Pig Brooder Saves Many Lives

Device Is Simple and Operation Cost Small

Little pigs, which grow up and go to market, aren't those which die or are crippled as a result of being chilled or crushed during farrowing. To prevent these misfortunes and consequent loss in revenue, many farmers have investigated the use of electric pig brooders. Such brooders consist of a triangular wooden framework, the sides of which are about 3½ feet long, nailed or bolted together at right angles, with the top of the hover constructed of lumber, insulating board or metal plate. A two by four inch board or metal guard across the front of the framework will give the brooder additional strength and provide an opening approximately eight inches high through which pigs enter.

Heat is provided by a 100 or 150 watt incandescent lamp per brooder, the size depending on the degree of warmth needed. These lamps are placed in a 14 or 16 inch dome type reflector, which is bolted securely on top of the hover, with the light directed through a hole about one inch smaller than the diameter of the reflector.

The brooder should be in place a day or two before farrowing time and the floor of the pen and hover covered with two or three inches of litter. Electricity consumed averages about 36 kilowatt hours per litter. Tests record that electric brooders reduce mortality of early spring pigs by 17.4 per cent.

Minerals for Hogs

BONE MEAL
IODIZED SALT (STABILIZED)
GROUND LIMESTONE

Proper growth cannot be secured, nor will health be maintained among the hogs without ample supply of minerals. Bone meal, iodized salt (stabilized) and ground limestone should be kept before them at all times.

Hogs know how much salt they need and if given free access will not take more than their system requires.

Check These Safety Tests in Farm Home

If you can answer "Yes" to these 10 statements, give yourself a score of 100 on this test for safety from fire hazards in your home. These are some of the precautions by which you can protect your house and your family from fire:

The chimney is free of cracks and holes. Chimney top is at least three feet above a flat roof and two feet above ridge of gable and hip roof.

Chimney is cleaned regularly to prevent fires.

Stove pipe is fastened to flue securely by rivets, wire or other safe method.

A wire mesh spark arrestor covers top of the chimney (if roof is combustible).

Oily rags are promptly discarded or kept in metal containers.

Matches are in a metal container, or only safety matches are used.

Matches are out of reach of children.

Every match is completely extinguished after use.

Flashlight instead of a match is used to see in dark places.

Conservation Brings Dividends to Farms

Farmers throughout the nation have made astounding progress in soil conservation. Farmers now know that conservation pays in dollars and cents. Farmers never would have been able to roll up the production record of the war or the high, profit-making production of today had it not been for our years of soil conserving work.

Control Blackhead by Use of Phenothiazine

The small roundworm, cecal worm, is not a serious parasite itself but is very important in the spread of blackhead. Control of the cecal worm tends to control blackhead. Control of the cecal worm is best done, according to Washington State college, by placing the young poult upon a one-half per cent phenothiazine mash for five days when the young poult are first turned out of the open range.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

LAST LOVER

BY Helen Topping Miller

Richard McFarlane, who disappeared during the first World War, leaving his wife, Julia, and two children, suddenly returns 25 years later and identifies himself as Captain Mackey, stationed at the same camp as his son, Ric, serving in World War II. Ric has become involved with Sandra Calvert, a divorcee who Captain Mackey knew at one time. He threatens her, but she and Ric marry anyway, and she arrives at Julia's farm to live. She starts Julia by recognizing a picture of Richard as that of Captain Mackey. Sandra and Jill, Ric's sister, have a quarrel during which Sandra demands $10,000. That night Captain Mackey arrives, saying he is there to take Sandra to Ric.

CHAPTER XIX

"Gordon? No, I don't know where he was assigned. Some flight training school, I think. He was a splendid fellow."

"I heard a plane go over a little while ago," Jill let water run to fill the ice tray, wondering if she should offer him another drink. She wasn't used to this aspect of hospitality, usually her grandfather did it, or sometimes Dave. "I thought about all of you—Spang and you, all you air men," she babbled on, a bit nervously, wondering why he had picked up that awful old wooden potato masher. Mamie had left it lying out—it was a thousand years old and all scarred where Ric had gnawed it when he was a baby. "I envied you," she ended, thinly.

He perched on the kitchen stool and lighted a cigarette.

"Smoke these?" he asked. She shook her head. "Now and then. But Mother doesn't like it much."

"Tell me a little about yourself. You're not in school?" he asked, coolly.

"Good gracious, no!" Jill laughed. "I'm practically middle-aged. I'm almost twenty-seven years old. I was a war baby—last war. I've never seen my father. He didn't come back."

"In every war some of us don't come back," he said slowly. "But we're all vain enough to hope that we'll be remembered."

"It's the old urge for immortality, isn't it?" Jill said, sensing something in this man's mood that answered the aching thing she had kept in her heart so long, the part of her that belonged to Spang. "So, you see I have to be my father's immortality. Ric and I are his future—all the future he has. In school I used to read all those weird books, all about the transmigration of souls, and metempsychosis, and all that fantastic stuff, and for a while I pretended to myself that I was my father, that perhaps he'd been killed just at the very moment I'd been born, and that his soul had gone into my body, and that really I was Richard McFarlane."

An oddly gentle smile moved over his face. "Perhaps that did happen. Perhaps his soul did go off and leave him and come to rest in your body. And if it did and if he knew I'm quite sure he wouldn't wish for anything better than to live on through some one so lovely and sweet as you!"

She led him back to the living-room, and found an ash tray for him, and forgot for the moment that he had really come to see Sandra.

She said, when the silence had stretched a little, "Do you have a daughter, Captain Mackey?"

He looked up sharply, and she saw his lip twitch a little.

Talk About a Lost Daughter

"I lost my daughter," he said, quietly.

"Oh, I'm sorry!"

"It was a very great loss," he went on. "Now that I've seen you I know how great my loss was."

"I'm sorry. We've both lost, haven't we? A daughter needs her father terribly, and I suppose fathers need their daughters, too, don't they?"

"They need them very much. But sometimes they fail to realize the need until it's too late. I'm quite sure I didn't appreciate my daughter—when I had her. I had my mind full of other things."

"But of course your daughter that you lost can be a sort of glory to you, don't you think? My father is like that to me. If my father could come back, I suspect he'd be a little embarrassed by the splendor I've invested him with, and very likely your daughter would be just a nice, human girl, too—maybe she'd worry you by staying out too late and smoking and things like that. But because we don't have them we can keep them wonderful and extraordinary, can't we? And maybe it comforts them a little for being separated from us, if they know. Do you think they could know, possibly? People think a lot about life beyond the grave, in wartime, don't they?"

"I wish your father could come back to live up to all the things you've built up for him in your mind, Jill McFarlane. But there's a big chance that he might be a sad disappointment."

"Oh, he couldn't be! He couldn't be, no matter how dull he was, or stern or irritable or anything. Because no matter what he was, he'd still be my father! Just as Ric is still my brother, even when I get furious at him for being weak and doing outrageous things, like this marriage. But I'd fight for him till we both died, if anything threatened him. Families are like that."

He rose and moved absently near her and laid his hand for a moment on her hair. Jill took the hand and pressed it, looking up at him, terribly sorry for him. He must, she was thinking, have loved that lost child very much, and no doubt the hurt of that loss had turned him in upon himself, made him bitter and misunderstood, made him the person Spang and others called Old Cyanide.

Jill got up, a little disturbed by the sharpness of her own emotions. "You said you wanted to see my sister-in-law." She made an awkward effort to get back to commonplace ground. "Shall I call her now?"

"I suppose so." He seemed to pull himself back from some remoteness, with difficulty. "I came to take her away. I'm taking her back to her husband."

"I'll get her," Jill said. "I hope she'll go with you, Captain. Though,

"I lost my daughter," he said quietly.

to be awfully crude and terribly frank, I think Ric would do much better in the army, if he were alone."

"I'm sure of that," he said. "I have another plan I hope to be able to work out for Sandra. One that will be better for everybody."

"It's certainly generous of you to take the trouble," Jill remarked. "I hope there is an answer to this problem. I know Sandra isn't happy here." She started for the door and then stopped, as a slipped figure came shuffling down the stairs. "Oh, Grandfather—I didn't hear you. Grandfather, we have company. This is Captain Mackey, from Ridley Field. My grandfather, Mr. McFarlane, Captain. The captain has come to take Sandra away, Grandfather."

John I. McFarlane walked slowly toward the man in uniform.

"So you're Captain Mackey?" the old man said.

Richard McFarlane looked at his father steadily. "I am Captain Mackey, Mr. McFarlane," he said, evenly. "How do you do, sir?"

John I. seemed to wait. His breath came heavily, his nostrils and his lean throat quivered. Then with an abrupt gesture, he held out his hand.

"How do you do, Captain?" he said.

They clasped hands gravely, and it seemed to Jill that they were a long time about it, that they were searching each other, studying each other's face with an intensity that was odd for two people who were utter strangers.

Father and Son Shake Hands

Then John I. said, "So you've come to take that woman away—that one young Richard married? He sent for her, did he?"

The captain waited a moment before he answered. Then his words came slowly. "I promised Richard McFarlane that I would take her away from this house, sir. It's quite important that I keep my promise to Richard McFarlane, don't you think?"

John I. drew his lips in. "Give me a minute or two to get used to it," he said, dryly. "A captain keeping a promise to a private."

"Important that a captain keep any promise, Mr. McFarlane, even a promise to himself," the other man reminded him.

"In a case like that, I'd say he'd better go very slow making promises to himself," John I. remarked. "He might make a few he couldn't keep."

"A man learns by experience, don't you think, sir?"

"Might be. That would depend on his experience," John I. argued. "Now, take a man that had never had a thought for anybody but himself, his experience might not be much help to him—that is unless he changed his ways a lot."

"Only fools and dead men never change," returned the captain. "Experience can teach a man a great deal. It can teach him, for instance, that there's a time for speech and a time to be silent."

John I.'s black eyes sharpened and then grew sober.

"If you've learned that, sir, you've learned the most important thing in human experience," he said. "I'm an old man and I know."

"And being an old man, you'll give a younger man credit for trying?"

"I am always glad," John I. McFarlane spoke slowly, and Jill was a little impatient with him for being so pontifical and making such tiresome speeches, though Captain Mackey seemed not to be bored or amused by him at all. "I am always glad," the old man went on, "to give credit where credit is due. Good night to you, Captain."

They shook hands again, and Jill saw how little her grandfather looked, so shrunken, so old. Then he turned and went toward the stairs, and he seemed to grope for the door, and she heard his feet stumble as he went up ahead of her.

She heard his bedroom door close, as he reached the upper hall, and there was a queer, sharp sudden sound beyond it, a sound almost like a sob.

She knocked on Sandra's door, and it was opened with suspicious alacrity. Sandra still wore the feathered robe, the sculptured curls, the bluish shadow on her eyelids, the rosy curve of lip meant for allure. But her eyes were hard as matrix and as cold.

"What's Rod Mackey doing here?" she demanded.

Jill closed the door, moving into the room.

"You listened, did you? He's a captain from Ridley Field. He says he has come to take you to Ric."

"How can I go to Ric? I don't even know where he is! How will I live when I get there? Ricky told me to stay here till he sent for me. This is some kind of trick. I know Rod Mackey. I'm not going."

"Don't be an idiot, Sandra. Captain Mackey told Grandfather that he had promised Ric to bring you."

"All right, I'll talk to him," she said, sullenly, "but I won't go with him. No woman in her right mind would go anywhere with Rod Mackey."

"How silly!" Jill was scornful. "You assume that every man has designs on you, Sandra. I don't believe you know Captain Mackey at all. I wouldn't be afraid to go with him."

"Oh, no doubt. You're the naive type that men like Mackey look for." Sandra was posing, Jill saw, even walking down the stairs. Her head was up, she was pointing her toes, she was being regal and keeping her eye on the long mirror in the lower hall. She was the affronted queen when she faced Roger Mackey at the living-room door. "Just what," she asked in an imperious tone, "is the meaning of this, Captain?"

He said, "Go pack your bags, Sandra. I'm taking you to your husband."

A Close Call For Mackey

"Thank you, I'm not going. I doubt if Ricky knows anything about this at all. You're meddling again, aren't you, Rod Mackey? Asserting your authority to meddle in the affairs of other people, that don't concern you!"

"On the contrary, this concerns me," he insisted. "I have a very definite commission. Otherwise I shouldn't have made this long trip."

"For goodness sake, Sandra, you said you were breaking your heart because you had to leave Ric," Jill exclaimed. "I should think you'd be delighted to have a chance to go with Captain Mackey."

Sandra gave her a slow, pitying look. "Did you ever see this officer before, Jill?" she asked, coldly.

"Why, of course. I met him at Ridley Field."

"Does he remind you of some one? Some one you've seen before?" Sandra went on in that same deadly level voice.

Jill did not answer because she was startled by the odd, harsh sound that Captain Mackey made.

But his voice came, level and even. "I remind her of her father," he said, looking straight at Sandra. "And she reminds me of my own daughter. We've been comforting each other because we both know what we have lost. People with imagination should indulge their whims sometimes, but not too far—not too dangerously far! Imaginations have a way of getting away from you, of traveling at high speed to all sorts of remote places. Even to Mexico! Now, if you'll kindly pack your bags, Mrs. McFarlane, Jr., we'll be on our way. Just one bag, please. The rest of your things can be sent for later. And you needn't be uneasy. I'm taking you straight to the place where you ought to be."

Hens Bleach

In a non-laying pullet, yellow color or pigmentation is found in the vent, eye-ring, ear-lobe, beak and shanks. As the bird begins laying and manufacturing egg yolks, she absorbs the yellow pigment and it leaves the body first in the vent, then in the eye-ring, ear-lobe and shanks. From four to six months of laying are required for the color to leave the bird's body entirely, with the shanks bleaching last.

Lose Vitamin C

Foods rich in vitamin C should not be cooked too long. Neither should foods that are rich in vitamin C be allowed to stand too long before serving. If they are allowed to stand for very long, they will lose their vitamin C content. Orange juice, cut tomatoes, or a dish of cauliflower will lose all vitamin C while standing. They should be prepared just before serving.

Household Plants

Household plants growing in sunny windows or strong light can stand higher room temperatures than the same plants growing in poor light, but only the toughest are able to stand a combination of temperatures of 70 degrees and above, and poor light conditions.

Aquatic Animals

The world's largest and smallest animals live in water. These range from one-celled microscopic amoeba to multi-tonned whales. Many terrestrial animals such as frogs, salamanders, and certain insects spend part of their life cycle under water.

Pear States

About two-thirds of all the pears produced in the United States come from California, Oregon and Washington, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica. Total production in the country averages 30 million bushels a year.

Peel Potatoes

One of the most time-consuming kitchen jobs, peeling potatoes, has been reduced to a factory process in Seattle and Boston. Peeled by steam at 60 pounds pressure, the potatoes are dipped in a solution which prevents discoloring for as long as five days. They are delivered to the restaurant or institution in the quantities and at the time required; this practice saves both storage space and time.

Butchering Pork

To prevent souring of home butchered pork, avoid overheating the animals before slaughter, slaughter and butcher when temperatures are low, be sure of thorough and complete bleeding, chill the carcass before packing it in cure, use pure salt, clean sugar or syrup and saltpeter, boil brine before using, scald barrel or other receptacles, and practice cleanliness in handling meat.

Inhabited Sun Valley

The first inhabitants of the Valley of the Sun, of which Phoenix, Ariz., is the focal point, were the prehistoric people known to the Indians as the Ho-ho-kam or "vanished people" who flourished there in a fairly high state of civilization somewhere between the years 700 and 1400 A. D.

Jap Vision

Many Allied air pilots captured by the Japanese suffered serious impairment of vision because of poor diet, according to the Better Vision Institute. Few, however, upon return to normal diet had persistent night blindness.

Archer Fish

The archer fish of Java has such excellent eyes that it can spit with deadly aim a stream of water at insects flying above the surface. The insects, with wetted wings, fall upon the surface and are devoured by the fish.

Roasting Tender Meat

A tender meats with a good covering of fat are better roasted in an open pan. A tender roast will be more juicy if you keep the oven temperature moderate and follow the excellent motto of "Use no cover, add no water." A cover on the roaster and added water result in steam. This steam draws out the juices which are lost from the meat, though they may be saved in the gravy. If the roast is tough, steam is necessary to help soften the tough tissues. Don't steam-jacket a tender roast unless you want to make a pot roast of it.

Protect Pipes

In installing water pipes they should be located for maximum protection against freezing. Pipes in the basement or under the house can be more easily protected. A stop and waste cock should be provided so the water can be turned off and the pipe drained when necessary. Pipes can be insulated by using a layer of eight inches of rock wool, cottonseed hulls or other good insulating material. The pipe should be boxed or otherwise enclosed so as to keep the insulating material dry.

TINLEY PARK

Mrs. Joseph Gallina and Mrs. George Lumbert attended the meeting yesterday of the 4-H chairmen in the Illinois Agriculture department offices in Chicago.

Mrs. Pat Carr and children were visitors in the home of her sister in Michigan last week. Mr. Carr drove there over the week end to bring his family home.

Mrs. Bertha Mayer suffered a stroke last week and was taken to the St. Francis hospital where her condition remains serious.

Due to the flooded condition in their home and environs, the Morton family was kindly offered the use of the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Brandau for the purpose of honoring Charlene Morton, who was confirmed on Easter Sunday. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bettman, Kathy, and Jane; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bewley and daughter from Markham, Mr. Bob Winnie of Calumet City, the A. Brandau's and Mrs. Henry Brandau.

The Ladies Aid of Trinity Lutheran church wish to take this opportunity to thank all those who helped to make the Bake and Easter Egg sale the success it was.

Mrs. George Schultz, Sr., Mrs. Geo. Schultz Jr. and Mrs. Hilbert Schultz last Monday attended the radio program "Hint Hunt" which is broadcast from the studios of the Columbia broadcasting system in the Wrigley building.

The Ladies Aid of the Trinity Lutheran church met Wednesday in the school basement and quilted two quilts. A potluck dinner was served at noon.

Mr. George Schultz, Sr. celebrated his birthday Easter Sunday, and a group of relatives and friends came to make the day a joyous one. A delicious supper was served and the table decorations were in the traditional Easter motif. The birthday cake centering the table was in the form of a lamb and was surrounded by colored eggs. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Westberg of Beverly Hills, Mrs. Kate Abbe, the Charles Schult's, Walter Stelter's and Les Embary's of Blue Island; from Tinley Park were the John Fahrenholts; Walter Siemsen; Cornell Devalks, Hilbert Schultz's and Geo. Schultz's Jr. In the evening the Carl and Erwin Engelhardt's and George Schillings visited. The evening was spent playing cards after which a midnight snack was served.

Little Lila Zobac was two years old on Easter Sunday and her parents the Harold Zobacs were hosts to 15 guests at a turkey dinner to celebrate the occasion. In the evening a buffet supper was served. Guests were from Chicago, Harvey and Tinley Park

RNA NOTES

The RNA held their social meeting Tuesday evening in the Village hall with a very good attendance. At our next meeting April 22 we will have a Stanley Brush demonstration, which should prove very interesting. After the demonstration refreshments of coffee and home made cakes will be served. We hope all the members will come out as it will benefit the camp. Remember the date, April 22.

—Erna Wallin, Publicity chairman
Mrs. Lena Schanz and Mr. and Mrs. George Schanz, Mr. and Mrs. Freberg and Mrs. Klann were Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Paul Jahrmarkt.

Camp Fire News

The Camp Fire Girls held their usual meeting Thursday March 27. The hostess for the meeting was Beverly Pekorny. We had refreshments and played a game of bunco.
